WE NOMINATE

Helen Elizabeth Hoagland, a lifelong Princetonian who "never liked school" but who, somehow or other, after 47 years of continuous service in Princeton University's Registrar's Office, feels that education is "well worth the effort." This week Miss Hoagland, on the threshold of the statutory retirement age of 65, is rounding out an almost unique service record in the Registrar's Office of an all-male institution that a fortnight ago reported, to Miss Hoagland's disapproval, "a study of the advisability and feasibility of enlarging the University's role in the education of women."

It was in September 1920, the year the League of Nations was formally brought into being in Geneva, Switzerland, that Miss Hoagland, Griggstown-born and a lifelong resident of Princeton, joined the University's staff. She started out as clerk-secretary to the late Professor Frederick L. Hutson, Registrar and classicist; was associated with Wilbur F. Kerr throughout his 21-year tenure as Registrar; and since 1946, under Registrar Howard W. Stepp, has served successively as Assistant to the Registrar and Assistant Registrar, handling scheduling responsibilities which will ultimately be delegated to "the machines."

One University official notes that "it is impossible to describe the many things she does in and for the University. She is in charge of the transcript department; is the only living person who can interpret some of the old scholarship cards, makes all room assignments, puts the course-schedule together each term and takes care of our publications in that area. She has been responsible for all actions on scholarship cards, and there are 1,000's of them — and, in addition, records all course grades, postponed examinations, graduation lists, Honors rosters, and many other things, including a dozen or more I probably haven't even thought of."

Growth, whether it be Nassau Street traffic, the Borough and Township, or the University's faculty and enrollment, is the one phenomenon which has left an indelible impression with Miss Hoagland. As she looks forward to retirement, to the "pleasure of not having to do things on time" and to the opportunities of "catching up on my reading, meaning everything in general and nothing in particular," she wistfully recalls her one-room Griggstown school, her years at Princeton High School and the pleasures her father, the late Andrew S. Hoagland, derived from Lake Carnegie — wintertime skating as well as fishing in the autumn and fall.

In spelling out her opposition to co-education at Princeton, which she feels "should always be a man's college," Miss Hoagland, known to more professors and students than any woman administrator of her time, punctuates her remarks with references to the University's athletic traditions. A confirmed football and basketball enthusiast, with an attendance-record few alumni can match, she is also a confirmed observer of professional football and baseball. In the same way she can quote statistics relating to McCosh and Dickinson Halls, and even the new Woodrow Wilson School, she can recite the New York Yankees' batting averages and the punt-return yardages for her beloved New York Giants.

For her devotion to the Gown and the Town to which she has given so much; for demonstrating, in the words of one associate, that in a citadel of male supremacy there "is such a thing as an indispensable woman;" for leavening skill, dedication and sheer hard work with a delightful sense of humor; she is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

A PLACE TO LIVE

We're 2,100 Short. For families with incomes below $10,000 a year, Princetun is shy 2,131 dwelling units. For people who earn from $6,000 to $9,999, Princeton is short by 448.

The statistics are part of a figure-filled study completed this week by Alvin E. Gershen Associates of Trenton for the Princeton Pastors Association, the Social Concerns Committees of various Princeton churches and PAHR, the Princeton Association for Human Rights.

The Gershen firm considered two groups: families with incomes below $10,000 who live in Borough and Township and families in the same bracket who live outside but send the wage-earner into Princeton to work for Princeton University, Princeton Hospital, the Princeton Regional Schools and the two municipal governments.

Gershen estimates there are 2,524 of the former, and 1,712 of the latter. There are also the people known as "primary individuals" — single people who don't belong to a family, but who still must have a place to live. There are an estimated 875 of these living in Princeton and earning under $10,000.

What Can You Afford? Figures used by Mr. Gershen are taken from the 1960 census and he warns that in the intervening years Princeton has grown, the median income of American families has gone up by 27 percent, and the segment of American families with incomes of less than $10,000 has decreased by almost 15 percent, with the sharpest decrease in incomes below $7,000.

Mr. Gershen, adopting the standard used by most lending agencies, figures that a family can afford to buy a house which costs two and one-half times the family income: $25,000, in the case of $10,000 per year. In rental terms, the figure is 25 percent of the annual income, or $200 a month gross, for the family with a $10,000 income.

At the moment, there are in Borough and Township 2,980 dwelling units which families earning less than $10,000 could afford to buy or rent. This doesn't include deteriorating or delapidated units.

Mr. Gershen added up the 2,524 families who already live in Princeton within that income bracket, the 875 single people and the 1,712 who live outside but work here, and got 5,111. He subtracted the 2,980 existing units and found that Princeton is short by 2,131.

Interdependency. Why include the outsiders? Mr. Gershen suggests that, while it is all very well to say that the University, the hospital, the school system and the two municipal governments contribute vitally to Princeton by providing jobs, it is also true that these institutions are very dependent indeed upon a good, diversified labor supply.

He adds an aside: if more people who work in Princeton lived here too, local traffic might be pleasantly reduced.

The University is the institution employing the largest number of under $10,000 family men who live outside town. There are an estimated 1,540 of these on University payrolls. Next comes Princeton Hospital, far down the line with 84; the school system with 60; the Princeton Township government with 18 and the Borough with 10.

The University provided its own estimate, the American Hospital Association Journal provided the raw figure of 400 employees for Princeton Hospital from which Mr. Gershen deducted the estimate of 84, and the school and municipal figures came from the Princeton Regional Teachers Association and the known personnel and budget figures of both Borough and Township.

Mr. Gershen realizes that in many cases — perhaps one-third — somebody else in the family besides the male wage earner is bringing money home too, to add to that $10,000.

Mid-Income Competition. When the report narrows the income range down to $6,000 to $9,999 a year, the housing need narrows correspondingly: to an estimated 448 units.

In his survey, Mr. Gershen ran across an interesting, although not surprising, statistic: the relatively high number of "primary individuals" living in the Borough — people living alone or with a roommate.

He found that 27.5 percent of the housing units in the Borough were occupied in this way, compared to 9 percent for the Township and 13.3 percent for New Jersey as a whole.

Using 1960 census figures, he finds that in the northwestern part of the Borough, bounded by Nassau Street and Bayard Lane, there are more rental units costing less than $115 than there are in the Township or in the state as a whole. In this part of the Borough 35.4 percent of all housing units rent at $115 or less, compared to 16.2 for the Township and 32.2 for the state.

Going even lower on the rental scale, Mr. Gershen finds that 7.5 percent of the rents in this part of the Borough are less than $59 a month, compared with only 1 percent for the Township, and 6.8 for New Jersey as a whole.

He concludes that "an unusual degree of competition exists for moderate and low-income housing" in this part of Princeton.

Where Now? "This report should be regarded as merely an initial examination into the field of moderate income housing," Mr. Gershen says.

He suggests closer work with the University, the hospital and the other "basic" employers of the area to obtain more refined estimates of moderate and low-salaried workers and their needs, and a census within selected areas of both Borough and Township, which he believes would produce "a very reliable estimate" of the potential need and market.

The State Provides. One of the most important tools, Mr. Gershen emphasizes, is the new state Housing Finance Agency Law and he urges Princeton to begin now to see how the tool can be used for the town.

Under the terms of the law, the new housing finance agency acts as a banker, supplying mortgage money for housing built by private, non profit (or limited dividend) corporations. The state will provide up to 100 percent of construction costs, plus "seed money" for planning or taking an option on a site.

Housing is built and managed by a corporation which takes the entire financial liability. This corporation must have a sponsor, perhaps a church, a university, or an incorporated civic group. The sponsor doesn't assume any financial responsibility but guarantees the continuity of the corporation's board of directors.

Before all this, however, there is an essential step: the governing body of the municipality must declare, by resolution, that there is a need in the community for moderate income housing. There is no need, however, for any declaration of "blight," as there is under urban renewal.

The law is designed to help families in the $6-12,000 income range. For families below $6,000, some units can be rented to a housing authority, or rented directly below cost, compensated by other units rented at more than cost. Housing may be provided for people with incomes as high as $15,000 and a tenant's income may rise by 25 percent after he moves in.

Any number of units is allowed but economically, 50-60 units are thought to be the most practical. Construction cost is supposed to be figured so that units can rent for about $29 per room for garden apartments or town houses, $33 a room for high rise. As a tenant's income goes up, his rent may go up, too, and if operating costs rise, rent may rise. However, the non-profit concept is designed to keep rents from rising to what they are on Princeton's open market.

How to keep the units for Princeton people? Legally, anybody can live in the units. However, the law does allow a priority system, and in Princeton, teachers or policemen or others who work here, could be given preference and since there are so many, this priority system would probably serve the purpose.

The state likes the idea of a creative approach to design, and units would not be drearily "public." Up to 20 percent of the space can be devoted to commercial rentals, thereby allowing "neighborhood stnres." The state also would like to see community facilities in these complexes.

Property tax may be calculated in two ways, either by the standard way of a tax on assessed valuation, or by a percentage of rentals up to 20 percent, the figure to be worked out between the nonprofit corporation and the town.

The church groups, the ministers and PAHR have not yet had much time to act on the Gershen recommendations. However, they are known to be studying the ways in which the new state law might be applied to Princeton's middle-income housing shortage.

TWO INJURED

In Cycle, Truck Crash. A collision between a motorcycle and a tractor trailer injured two persons Tuesday afternoon at 5 at the intersection of Mercer and Alexander streets.

James Severson, 18, of 101 Westerly Road, operator of the motorcycle was admitted to Princeton Hospital with a severe cut on one knee and fractures of both hands. His passenger, Miss Lynn Clemets, 17, of Arlington, Va., was treated for bruises and released.

Ptl. Allen Benkert issued a summons to William Fleming, 12 W. Delaware Avenue, Pennington, driver of the truck, for making a left turn without yielding. Mr. Severson was charged with operating a motorcycle on a permit with no licensed driver in the vicinity.

CYCLIST, CAR COLLIDE

At Nassau and Pine. Stanley C. Wells, 49, 448 Walnut Lane, received lacerations of the right knee, right elbow and face last week when his Honda motorcycle collided with a car at intersection of Nassau and Pine Streets. He was treated at Princeton Hospital and released.

Richard E. Borger, 58, 34 Jefferson Road, the other driver, told Sgt. Theodore Lewis that he saw the motorcycle coming in the opposite direction but felt he had ample time to complete his turn onto Pine. He added that he did not realize until he was in the process of turning that Mr. Wells was not looking in his direction and there was going to be a crash.

Sgt. Lewis issues no summonses.

PLAN OUTDOOR DANCES

Null Set to Appear. The Princeton Recreation Department will sponsor a series of outdoor teenage dances on Friday evenings this summer.

The first affair is scheduled for next Friday, July 7, from 8:30 to 11:30 outside Princeton High School. Music will be provided by The Null Set.

The following weekend will feature the Ivy Men; several other area bands are scheduled for later dances. All teenagers in the Borough and the Township are invited. Those wishing further information should call the Recreation Department, 921-9480.

Lose Any Money?

Lt. Francis Maguire reports that the police on Monday found "a small sum of cash" in the area of Prospect Avenue.

Anyone identifying the amount may claim it at police headquarters, 50 Stockton Street, he said.

FIND "QUIET DIGNITY"

On Mission to Israel. "There was little shouting of joy as I remember after World War II. What impressed us most was the quiet dignity of these people," said Dr. Frank Rathauser, who with his Princeton Hospital colleague, Dr. Henry Abrams, is one of the few Americans to visit Israel since the outbreak of the war.

"The country is so small," he continued "that almost every family we met knew a neighboring family who had lost someone in the fighting. There was great pride at having won the war, but there was also an atmosphere of profound sadness."

The two surgeons returned Saturday from a 12-day visit to Israel during which they treated from 200 to 300 patients each at the University Hospital in Jerusalem and at the hospital at Elath on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Dr. Abrams, who lives at 44 Armour Road, heard about the war from a Jewish colleague almost immediately after it began, and on learning that the need for medical assistance was "extremely desperate," called his one-time Trenton High schoolmate, Dr. Rathauser of 920 West State Street in Trenton.

Red Tape Overcome. They decided to go almost immediately. It took them four days and much negotiating to get clearance from the State Department, and they believe that they are the only American medical men to go with State Departmet sanction.

They left on June 12, the fifth day of the war, and arrived via Tel Aviv in Jerusalem to find that "the doctors there were so involved they were ready to drop in their tracks."

Dr. Abrams, an eye specialist, and Dr. Rathauser, who specializes in children's surgery, spent the next 11 days "filling in whereever we could, usually for doctors who had gone to the front.

"We are immensely impressed by the exquisite medical care which was given both the wounded Israelis and the Arab prisoners. The medical facilities were as advanced as in any country in Europe," Dr. Abrams said.

No Help Expected. They found little hostility toward American neutrality. "They wanted to go it alone," said Dr. Rathauser, "and they didn't expect American aid."

As for the current negotiations, Dr. Rathauser suggested that "while there is little hostility in the Israeli attitude, the Israelis seem to feel that there are some areas, such as the strategic Syrian heights and Jersalem, which they cannot give up."

Both doctors' families have been enthusasitic about their mission. "Our children constantly encouraged us to go, and our wives did most of the spadework on the telephone to get State Department clearance," Dr. Abrams said.

They returned immensely impressed with the courage, strength and sense of community of the Israelis and are currently making plans to go back to offer their services again next summer.

STIFFER HOUSING CODE

In Borough. The Borough Board of Health has decided to stiffen the spine of the new housing code amendment by exploring the possibility of a crash program, under which all Borough rental units would be inspected.

The new amendment, passed by Council on June 13, requires a certificate of occupancy but does not require the actual physical inspection of rental units between tenants.

The board appointed a committee of its members, with Mrs. John Fischer as chairman, to meet during the summer and find out how much a crash inspection would cost, how many people would be needed to carry it through and how long it would take.

Committee members, besides Mrs. Fischer, will be Orren Jack Turner, Miss Mildred Kaplan and Dr. J. Leonard Moore, chairman of the board. No deadline was given to the committee.

During the summer, while the committee is at work on its project, Borough health officer David Blake and his assistant, Andrew O'Hara, will begin inspecting rental units. Mr. Blake told the board of health that he and Mr. O'Hara would spend two or three hours a week making inspections.

They expect to start after July 1, Mr. Blake said, and will note major violations such as defective plumbing and heating. If structural or electrical defects are noted, Mr. Blake said he would call in the building inspector or fire experts.

the Township, health officer Mrs. Marcella Farley told the Board of Health on Thursday night that several letters had been received commending the board for housing code information sent out with quarterly tax notices. One of the letters was from Township Committeeman John Wallace, Mrs. Farley said.

Reporting on the continuing inspection of Township houses listed in violation of the code, Mrs. Farley told the board that letters with a two week warning will go out to Mrs. Joseph Caplan, owner of the apartment house at Leigh Avenue and John Street, Bruce H French, owner of the premises at 215 19 Birch, and Mrs. R.J. Liljlund, owner of 290 Witherspoon.

Mrs Farley said that, although the exterior of the house owned by Mr. French had been repaired, tenants have told her that such interior matters as electrical outlets and moldings had not been taken care of.

In the Caplan apartment house, Mrs. Farley said that cracking plaster had not been repaired nor impervious flooring installed, as required.

Property at 290 Witherspoon does not yet have the required bathroom facilities for first floor tenants, Mrs. Farley said. She added that she had received no reply from a certified letter to Mrs. Liljlund.

James Bovino, owner of 36 and 39 Leigh, has made all major repairs and asked for more time to finish the job, Mrs. Farley said. She told the board that tenants of John Delmonzos at 293 Witherspoon are pleased with what the landlord has done for the property, and she said that tenants themselves at this address have been doing more cleaning.

Both Mrs. Farley and Mr. Blake, acting on the advice of their boards, will continue to make inspections, although a recent Supreme Court decision on the rights of a home-owner in regard to inspections had raised questions. If a homeowner protests, the health officers will obtain a warrant from their respective magistrates.

"This Supreme Court decision is absolutely correct," commented Dr. Richard L. Barach, board member, "I am glad to have this protection for my home."

Start July!

A new month on Saturday and fireworks on Tuesday that's the immediate picture. What else?

Well, the Man admits, a return to more heat and higher humidity. Weekend showers are also a good possibility. That's July for you, and it'll be around for quite a while.

Mrs. Farley reported spot inspections of exteriors along Lower Alexander Street. Most of the visible violations were shaky steps and hand rails.

TOWNSHIP IS AHEAD

In Sewer Action. "We've been doing this all along," observed Township health officer Marcella Farley Thursday night after she read to the Board of Health a letter from the state Department of Conservation and Economic Development asking municipalities to require proper solution of sewage disposal and water problems before giving approval to subdivisions.

Mrs. Farley added that the Township attorney is now extending the requirements to cover minor subdivisions.

Amos Eno's plans to subdivide 6.2 acres from his Quaker Road property and sell the plot to the Institute for Advanced Study, were approved The Planning Board has asked for Board of Health review because the parcel has neither public sewer nor public water.

Mr. Eno told the Board of Health he had approached the Institute about buying the land after the Township had put it on the Open Space map. The Institute plans to keep it in Open Space, too.

Board of Health members pointed out that overflow from his sewer field might contaminate Stony Brook (the land is low in that part of Quaker Road) but the sewer field has been there for many years and this has apparently not been a problem, Mr. Eno's attorney said.

Sewer for Mercer. Still in the same part of town, the Board of Health said yes, indeed, the $32,000 sewer extension along Mercer Road should be made. The line would serve 15 properties. Health officials regard the section as an emergency area.

The Princeton Shopping Center has asked the Board to waive the requirement that a plumbing contractor be hired before a building permit is issued in the case of the Bamberger s addition and the new A & P

Last month, the Board agreed to this on the condition that the Center make available to the Princeton Water Company all water used in air conditioning systems.

George Warnecke, owner of the Center, replied much too equivocally to suit the board, and Mrs. Farley was instructed to write him again, demanding a firmer "yes."

State health inspectors are content with the Township's supermarkets, Mrs. Farley reported, but are gloomy about sawdust on the floors of the butchering rooms. Sawdust is necessary because animal fat makes the floors dangerously slippery, Mrs. Farley said. The state would prefer bare brick which can be steamed clean, but Dr. William Kleinberg, chairman of the board, said this is impractical and stated that the Township will go along with sawdust so long as it's kept sanitary.

The board passed the ordinance giving the health officer power to inspect public swimming pools.

". . . SAD TO SEE HIM GO"

Dr. McKenna Leaves. Dr. John J. McKenna has left Princeton — professionally, at least — to begin his new duties as superintendent of schools in Madison.

He left last week after the Board of Education meeting, making his farewell to the community with a letter in which he said, "I thank each of you for the opportunity given to me to serve the youth of Princeton and to help them in some small measure toward their quest for a better world."

A Navy man who never really left the sea, Dr. McKenna commented in his farewell letter on ". . . the times when everything was not as smooth as we would have liked it to be. A change of course usually results in a disturbed wake, but upon steadying up to the new heading, the wake again resumes its smooth pattern."

Dr. McKenna who came to Princeton 11 years ago as principal of Valley Road, commended Princeton as "a community which is honestly committed to the best in education; the Board of Education "who consistently have been men and women who exemplify the highest ideals of public service;" the staff, for being "an unusually fine and dedicated group of professionals with whom I am proud to have served;" and the student body as "an outstanding group with high ideals and aspirations."

John J. McKenna

At the end of the board meeting last week, board member Herbert Bailey read a poem comopsed for Dr. McKenna by "one of the older children." The identity of "the older child" was not disclosed but the content of the verses seemed to indicate an older child who perhaps had children of his own. Here are the concluding lines:

". . . He suffered with us through our urge
First to unmerge and then to merge.
And when "to merge" became a fact
He saw it through with skill and tact.
For some his tact (he would admit)
Consisted of a "Chaplain's chit."
For Captain Mac's good "ship of schools"
Could never be a "ship of fools,"
And when the weather's wild and rough
Our Captain Mac is bold and tough.
But Doctor Mac is warm and wise;
We like the smile that lights his eyes.
Our Doc McKenna is a pro.
We're awfully sad to see him go."

LOSS EXCEEDS $240

In Varityper Disk Theft. Eight plastic Varityper disks, valued at slightly more than $30 each, were reported missing Monday from the second floor office of Nassau Printers, Inc., 20 Nassau Street.

Kenneth Fuchs, representative of the Varityper Corp., Trenton, told Borough police he had left a Varityping machine and nine disks on loan last week to the Princeton firm. Police reported that the office was locked all weekend and there were no signs of forced entry.

Also on Monday, two employees of Geddes, Brecher, Qualls & Cunningham, an architectural firm at 18 Nassau, reported wallets stolen from their jackets. Their combined loss was $42.

The two told police they had left their jackets in a second floor closet at 8:30 in the morning. When they returned at lunch time, they discovered the wallets were missing.

Another wallet theft, this one from a room at the Graduate College, resulted in a loss of more than $100 for the owner, John E. Mercer. Mr. Mercer told police he had left his room around 5 o'clock to take a shower.

Vandalism, Too. Borough police listed two acts of vandalism last week. Several juveniles were charged with breaking see-saws and tables at the Erdman Avenue Playground last Wednesday, causing damage estimated between $50 and $100.

Lt. Francis Maguire said that their parents had been visited about restitution.

Eight tires on five cars were slashed with a sharp instrument between 12:45 a.m. and 8 a.m. on Wednesday. All the cars were parked on Moran Avenue.

Princeton Township police are investigating an entry and theft Friday at Gallup & Robinson, Research Park, North Harrison Street.

Mrs. Claire Boccanfuso told police that someone jimmied a window and removed $50 from a drawer in the receptionist's desk. Police believe a screwdriver was used to pry open a front window on the first floor and the same instrument used to open the desk.

LOOK OUT BELOW

Fly Ash at Incinerator. Fly ash—the stuff that comes out of the chimney when you burn the trash—is plaguing the new $318,000 Princeton incinerator.

Mrs. Marcella Farley, Township health officer, told the Township Board of Health Thursday night that when she visited the incinerator on May 5, the ash fall was so heavy she was afraid the top of her convertible might catch fire. "It comes down in sheets," she told the board.

The board of health decided to ask the Joint Sewer Operating Committee to confer simultaneously with the State Board of Health and with Seelye, Stevenson, Value and Knecht, the engineering firm that drew up the incinerator plans.

Borough engineer Thomas Cawley says the sewer operating committee has already expressed its dismay to the engineering firm and is withholding $9,980 in final payment for the incinerator, hoping that something can be done to control the ash.

FACES DRUG CHARGE

Youth Found Unconscious. A 15-year-old Township youth has been charged with unlawful use of drugs by Township Juvenile Officer Walter Emann.

He is scheduled to appear later before Mercer County Juvenile Judge J. Wilson Noden. In addition, he has been warned that if he creates any more problems in the interim, he will be taken to the Mercer County Juvenile Shelter in Trenton.

The youth was found last Saturday by a University security guard, lying unconscious in the sun near Blair Hall. The boy's mother told the guard to take her son to the Princeton Hospital dispensary because she was alone and unable to handle him in his condition.

He was admitted to the hospital after the examining doctor reported he was suffering from barbituate poisoning and a high blood alcohol content. He was released the next day.

Last Wednesday, the youth was questioned by Pfl. Emann in his office in the presence of his mother and a probation officer. To all questions he was evasive and uncooperative, said Emann. "He didn't tell us

Think small.

Our little car isn't so much of a novelty any more.
A couple of dozen college kids don't try to squeeze inside it.
The guy at the gas station doesn't ask where the gas goes.
Nobody even stares at our shape.
In fact, some people who drive our little flivver don't even think that about 27 miles to the gallon is going any great guns.
Or using 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.
Or never needing anti-freeze.
Or rocking up about 40,000 miles on a set of tires.
That's because once you get used to some of our economies, you don't even think about them any more.
Except when you squeeze into a small parking spot. Or renew your small insurance. Or pay a small repair bill. Or trade in your old VW for a new one.
Think it over.

anything, although he did say he had been on pills for a year."

In mentinning the pills the youth insisted that he had obtained them from his mother's medicine cabinet. His mother however, told Emann that she did not use enough prescription medicine to supply her son for a year and she felt he was obtaining them from someone else.

She added that she and the doctor had questioned her son while he was in the dispensary, and although he was incoherent, he had said: "Someone gave me the stuff, man."

Despite the finding of 55 milligrams of alcohol in his blood, the youth denied repeatedly to his mother and Pfl. Emann that he had had anything to drink.

POOLS RECEIPTS MOUNT

Reach $13,000, $8,000 to Go.

Princeton Recreation Board chairman Harry Volwieder doesn't like to be saddled with a white elephant any more than the next man.

He used the term at the Recreation Board's June meeting last week in answer to a question as to why some non-resident families had been allowed to join the Community Park pool complex, and for a fee only 50 percent higher than that paid by Princeton residents. Mr. Volwieder replied, "When we originally sought memberships to the pool the response was not very high; we were afraid we had built a white elephant."

Mr Volwieder's and the Board's fears about a white elephant are over. Recreation Director R Donald Barr dispelled them with a report on the pool's receipts that shows the $450,000 complex at Community Park is off to a running start.

MAN AT THE CONTROLS: Edward Beacham, manager of the Community Park pool complex, can talk direct to any of five lifeguard stations by a mere flick of a switch. A sixth switch allows him to talk over the public address system from his vantage point high above the pools.

Income from the pools and 15 tennis courts has exceeded $13,000. The figure increases every day. That alone covers the estimated $43,000 yearly operating cost of the pools. The total estimated operating budget for the pools and the tennis courts is $51,161.

"We have a deficit of $8,000 to make up between now and the end of the swimming period," said Mr. Barr. "We feel we have done very well; we think we are on our way." One board member said it was "amazin%" to have taken in so much in less than a month.

The initial poor response to the pools — attributable in part to unseasooably cold weather prior to their opening has mushroomed. More than 3,000 individuals have joined so far, according to G. Edward Beachham, manager of the pool.

That is still short of the ultimate cutoff goal of 5,600 individual memberships, but Princetonians are joining at a rate that would rule out any sizeable number of non-resident members.

In reply to that question about non-resident members being allowed to join — asked by Mrs. Helen Saller, 434 Walnut Lane — Mr. Beachham said that non residents were told in February they could join a waiting list on a first-come basis. The list was opened May 15 and about 52 families were given the option to join. Of these, about 35 families did, Mr. Beacham said.

Mr. Beacham, who oversees operation of the pools from his vantage point in a tower between the two bath houses, reported that despite the crowds there has been no vandalism or trouble of any kind. "We don't look for any," he added. He is aided by a corps of 27 young people who serve as life guards and attendants.

More than 300 children have joined the free swim instruction classes being offered in the morning. Mr. Barr said that similar classes would be offered teenagers and adults if the demand were sufficient.

Sun a Problem. Board member John Conroy raised an issue that has concerned many: "There's no place you can get out of the sun. If youngsters are going to be there three or four hours . . . the sun is just brutal."

"It's a problem acknowledged, Mr. Barr. "People want to bring beach umbrellas but you can imagine what that would do to the sod." The suggestion of installing pipes in the ground to serve as receptacles for the umbrellas drew a lukewarm response from Mr. Barr, who listed the danger of wind catching some of the umbrellas.

Big. plexiglass open - air shelters could be built but these would be expensive, said Mr. Barr and as for trees — they would be a problem because of leaves constantly clogging the filter system.

A.A.U. Diving Meet. A diving meet sponsored by the A.A.U. will be held at the diving pool July 20. It will be supervised by Robert Webster, Olympic Gold Medal Champion and diving coach at Princeton University, who is one of two assistant pool directors serving under Mr. Beacham.

The diving pool will be closed that day from 6 to 8. The exhibition will be free to those having season permits; others will have to pay $1. Receipts will be divided evenly getween the A.A.U. and the Recreation Commission.

On July 25, an A.A.U. regional meet will be held in the Olympic-size swimming pool. The pool will be closed the 25th from 5 to 8.

day and Township Committee on Thursday to consider the surprise amendment that took the place of the public hearing last week. This amendment opens the door for the E. R. Squibb Sons 213-acre research campus at the corner of Province Line and Lawrenceville Road.

Considering the letter sent to every Lawrence resident annoucing Committee's unanimous, five-man support of the new amendment, there doesn't seem to be much doubt that it will pass.

Committee will meet at 8:30 p.m. this Thursday in the Lawrence High School auditorium for the new public hearing.

Last Thursday, an overflow crowd gathered for the public hearing on a zoning amendment which would have allowed unlimited commercial development in both of Lawrence Township's rural zones.

Within minutes, the meeting was over and the crowd on its way home. What happened was this: in a surprise move, the two Republican Committtemen who had abstained when the amendment was introduced on the grounds that they had insufficient time and information, joined the three Democrats who favored the measure to announce a new compromise amendment.

This new proposal leaves "Rural B" rural, and affects only "Rural A," which happens to be where Squibb wants to build. The new amendment requires a minimum of 200 acres, a frontage of 1,000 feet along either Route 206 (The Lawrencevjlle Road) or Princeton Pike, and parking and property setbacks of 300 feet.

Buildings could be built only on 10 per cent of the land, leaving at least 180 acres as "open space." The present zoning law allows coverage on only eight percent.

Lawrence Township's Planning Board will review the new amendment at a meeting this Wednesday. The Board's nod is expected to be favorable since only two members opposed the original amendment.

The two Republicao members of Townsbip Committee said last Thursday that they were voting in favor of the new amendment because they had decided that Squibb's $9 million complex would be a good thing for Lawrence, provided additional zoning restrictions were made to prevent runaway commercial development.

This Thursday, Princeton Township will be represented at the Lawrence meeting by Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Princeton Township Planning Board, and by Gordon Griffin, Township attorney.

Mr. Sander is expected to give a modified version of the statement he had planned for last week's meeting, pointing out that Lawrence has a brand-new Master Plan and that broad adherence to such a plan is a cornerstone of sound community development. The land on which Squibb intends to build is marked on the new plan as a park, and Lawrence already has state Green Acres funds for its purchase.

SIX ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Six Princeton area drivers were fined $15 each Monday for careless driving by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Four of them, all teenagers, were charged by Ptl. Charles Harris with hotrodding on Hawthorne Avenue. They are Thomas Testa, 17, of Cranbury; Michael Pomianoski, 19, 26 Prospect Avenue, Plainsboro; Michael K. Baker, 19, Cranbury Road, Princeton Junction; and Miss Karen Roth, 18, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction.

All pleaded guilty. Ptl. Harris said they were apparently celebrating their graduation or summer recess from Princeton High School.

The other drivers fined were Michael DiDonato, 21, 61 Leigh Avenue, and Mrs. Lilian C. Green, 54, 4 Greenwood Avenue, Kingston. Penelope Foster, 20, 740 Kingston Road, paid $20 for speeding.

Last week in Township Court, Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr. fined George T. Benward, 18, of Belle Mead, and John W. Patton, 17, 207 Laurel Road, $15 each for careless driving. Passing a school bus while it was unloading cost Toeman Ariman, 31, Magie Apartemnts, $15.

Joan L. Hagamen, 38, of Skillman, a bus driver for the Princeton Regional School System, pleaded not guilty to disregarding a stop sign. Magistrate Miller found her guilty but suspended the $15 fine.

He said that there were extenuating circumstaces. It was foggy and misty at the time of the accident (the bus struck a car), he said, and a traffic control officer usually present at the intersection was not there.

State Halts Three. John H. Munson, 26, 18 Dodds Lane, and Hugh P. Vaughan, 36, of Cranbury, had their licenses suspended for 60 and 30 days by the Division of Motor Vehicles for speeding.

Gabriel A. Gabasan, 36, of Princeton Hospital, was convicted of speeding in Connecticnt. His license was suspended for one month under a reciprocity agreement.

HIGH SCHOOL APPROVED

By Mootgomery Voters. A proposal to build a $3,325,000 high school was approved by a 3-2 margin Tuesday in a referendum for Montgomery Township.

The final tally showed 387 in favor and 244 opposed. The turnout represented about 30% of the registered voters.

To rise on Burnt Hill Road, the school will include 30 standard classrooms, 14 special rooms and will have a maximum enrollment of 1300 pupils. Approval for the plans was obtained in April from the State Department of Education.

FOLK SINGER SIGNS IN

At Catacombs. Gary Meili, Princeton citizen, Lawrenceville School student and leader of the band called the "Unscheduled Flight," will check in at The Catacombs this Sunday at 8 P. M. for a little folk singing.

The Catacombs is the Youth Associates' Coffee House in the basement of Trinity Church. Admission will be free.

Although the Unscheduled Flight has played at dances in Trenton, at Lawrence Township High School and at George School in Pennsylvania, its leader will be soloing on Sunday.

ASK SITE PLAN REVIEW

In Township. Nudged into action by the problems that came up when the A & P and Bamberger's decided to spread out in the Shopping Center, the Township Planning Board has come up with a site plan ordinance applicable to all non-residential buildings.

Residents will have a chance to talk over informally with the Planning Board on Monday, July 10, at 8 p.m. in Township Hall, but Township Committee probably won't take formal action on passing the ordinance until after Labor Day.

The ordinance sets up a five-member Environmental Design Review Committee consisting of Borough or Township residents (no outsiders) who are professionals in architecture, city planning, landscape design or related fields. They will be joined as non-voting members by a liaison man from the Planning Board and the Township engineer.

This review board will sit down in work-shirt sessions with the developer in the initial stages of his project.

From the Start. "In the past," explained Hans K. Sander, Planning Board chairman, in an explanatory press conference, "a lot of applicants came in at the end of their working-drawing stage, when 60-70 percent of their money had been spent and the building was 'frozen.' This new ordinance gives us a chance to discuss plans in advance, when the developer has spent only five-to-20 percent of his money."

Mr. Sander, a practicing architect himself, emphasized that the review board will not tell an architect how to design his building or confine him to a single, rigid style. The board will simply work with the architect at an early stage, guiding him into the eight-part set of "Standards" laid down by the ordinance.

These standards are concerned not only with the site itself, but with "environmental design" that is, the relation of the building and its site to the neighbors all around it.

Carl G Lindbloom, Planning Board member who is chairman of the Technical Revisions Subcommittee that worked on the ordinance, said that the review board, far from holding to rigid standards, will encourage creativity, invention and innovation in planning buildings and their sites.

Trees, Traffic. The standards begin with preserving the landscape, minimizing tree removal, and making only those grade changes that harmonize with surrounding areas that are already developed.

The ordinance says that "proposed structures shall be related harmoniously to the terrain and to existing buildings that have a visual relationship to the proposed buildings." In other words, a building may not have a splendid facade, but be an eyesore to neighbors who see it from the rear.

The board will give particular attention to roads and walks, parking spaces, access to public streets, separation of pedestrian from vehicular traffic, and the circulation of traffic inside the site. The standards require that all utility lines be underground (the subdivision ordinance will be amended so that neighboring properties aren't affected.

"This is a more flexible approach than zoning," Mr. Sander commented "in fact, if the review board is staffed with good people, this could be better than a specific zoning ordinance."

Procedure. A property-owner will start by taking his early plans for building and site to the Township building inspector, who will determine whether variances are needed, inform the owner if there are, and send the plans on to the Planning Board and its committee. The committee's review must be made within 30 days after the plans are submitted.

Then the plans go to the Planning Board with the committee's recommendation, and the Planning Board decides whether to approve or reject. If the developer doesn't like the verdict, he can appeal to Township Committee.

The ordinance will have a trial life span of only three years — just to see how it works.

The board, or at least Mr Sander and Mr. Lindbloom, believe it is "legally defensible" and they say, in a prefactory statement, "The courts seem ready to recognize the use of local design controls and support the view that the promotion of site planning and aesthetic values is, of itself, a legitimate objective of legislative policy."

In preparing the ordinance, Planning Board members held frequent discussions, conversations and arguments with those who would be affected by the new law: Princeton University, the Institute for Advanced Study, Hun School, Princeton Day School, Stuart Country Day, the Chamber of Commerce, the local architects organization and groups involved with property on Alexander Street and the office-research zone.

Con. Pro. Reactions were predictable. The University, Mr. Sander said, would prefer informal conferences to a formal ordinance. So would the private schools. The Chamber is edgy about the amount of time the review board might take to reach a decision. The architects are divided.

So, to a degree, is the Planning Board. Sentiment for the ordinance is not unanimous, although one board member said he was "100 percent in favor of 80 percent of it."

Most of the concern arises from the difficulty of legislating aesthetics: however, the ordinance's involvement with such concrete matters as drainage and traffic removes it from concern with the purely aesthetic.

Similar ordinances exist, Mr. Sander said, in Bedminster, Summit and Tenafly; in Coral Gables, Florida and in various communities in California. Many of these are more restrictive than the Township, he said, requiring specific architectural styles or even specific building materials.

FEDS PICK UP TAB

For Part of Borough Hall. A grant of $25,406 from the Department of Defense will help pay the cost of the new Borough Hall. The grant represents half the construction cost (50,812) of the 3,330 square-foot Civilian Defense area in the basement of the new building.

The center has been designed to control life-saving operations for a population of 36,000 people and it has room for an emergency staff of 32.

In a non-military emergency, such as a blackout, the area could also be used as a communications center for the governor and other officials.

The basement disaster area has the required four-foot thick walls, air conditioning, and the Borough's auxiliary power unit which can go into operation seconds after public power stops (the present unit takes four minutes to go into action).

Cost estimates were worked out for the Department of Defense by the architects of the new Borough Hall.

News Of The CHURCHES

SUMMER HOURS LISTED

By Princeton Churches. With the coming of summer, several of Princeton's churches have scheduled combined services and different hours for worship.

The three Presbyterian churches, First, St. Andrew's and Witherspoon, will hold summer union services beginning this Sunday for ten weeks. First Presbyterian will be host church for the first three weeks; St. Andrew's, July 23-August 6; Witherspoon, August 13-27, with First Presbyterian holding the final union service on September 3.

Worship will begin at 10 a. m. at each church, with Witherspoon holding an extra service at 8:30 a.m. Church school will be held at 10 all summer for children through kindergarten age. Families are urged to have older children attend church with them.

A nursery will be available every Sunday morning in the church where services are being conducted. A combined choir will sing at all of the union services.

The Methodists will also change to summer hours this Sunday, continuing through the Sunday before Labor Day. The service of worship will be conducted at 10 a.m. with child care provided for infants and toddlers.

No church school will be held during the summer, but classes will resume September 10, which is Promotion Sunday and Rally Day. The choir will not sing during the next two months, but there will be a soloist each Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Laurence H. Stookey will again he guest preacher at the Methodist Church this Sunday. He is a native of Belleville, Ill., and a graduate of Swarthmore College and Wesley Theological Seminary.

Most recenly Mr. Stookey served as senior pastor of the Harrison Street Methodist Church, Wilmington, Del. He has come to Princeton to begin doctoral studies in homiletics and liturgics at the Theological Seminary, where he will also be an instructor in homiletics.

Trinity Church and All Saints' Chapel will alternate Sunday morning services during July and August. All Saints' will hold services at 7:30 and 9 a.m. and Trinity at 8 and 11 a.m.

The schedule will allow clergy from both churches to interchange with one another. The weekday Holy Communion services will remain as scheduled.

REV. SEPHULA TO PREACH

At Mount Pisgah Sunday. The Rev. Moses Sephula will preach this Sunday at the Mount Pisgah AME Church, 170 Witherspoon Street. His topic will be, "My Church and I."

This will be a brief return to Princeton for the 38-year-old minister who is studying to become a lawyer at the University of London. From 1959-62, he attended Westminster Choir College.

While he was at the Choir College, he addressed 372 congregations. "I was trying to set into perspective the history of my people and yours," he said.

"You know what my fondest experience of the United States was?" he asked. "I wasn't impressed by the Empire State Building, your subways or your technological advances.

"What impressed me most was your young people and your history. "Think the world of your history. You have a great treasury there. It's fascinating."

The Rev. Mr. Sephula left this country to found the African Methodist Episcopla Church in the United Kingdom. He returned to attend the Quadrennial Convention of the African Methodist Church held this month in Pittsburgh.

Funny, you don't look like a 4-cycle, 1498cc, 73hp, overhead valve V-4.

Bet you still think SAAB has only one kind of engine. Our famous 2-cycle, 3-cylinder "Shrike" engine. Well don't bet on it. Because SAAB now has a new V-4 engine, too. Zero to 50 in 10 seconds. Top speeds of over 90 mph. More power for acceleration. For hills. For safer passing. (And V-4 SAABs have front wheel disc brakes, for stopping all that power.) Funny thing, but it looks like this new high-performance V-4 should make the rally-winningest car in the world an even bigger winner. (That's something you can bet on.) SAAB

AN ARTIST'S HAVEN AND HEAVEN

The house you've always dreamed about! An unbelievably large 2 storied studio with beamed ceiling, balcony, and huge skylight. Attached to this a beautiful living room with large windowed wall and stone fireplace. An unorthodox kitchen with all appliances in the center of a large confortable studio room — mother can entertain and philosophize while preparing dinner, This room allows her to be in the middle of everything. Four bedrooms and three baths. The master bedroom has skylight and cathedral ceiling, all this plus a den and a library both with beamed ceiling. There is not an uninteresting room in the house. You have to see it to thoroughly appreciate its ingenuity and appeal. The house is situated on a beautifully landscaped lot with large trees. All of this for $53,000. Let us show it to you — You'll love it!!!

The Rock of Gibralter would best describe this English Tudor home built in those years (1929) when quality rather than just quantity was incorporated into every house from its solid foundation to its slate roof. Yet, it incorporates ideas of today in a formal entry, large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, study or breakfast room, and pleasant kitchen. OH yes! a large screened porch. The second floor — 4 bedrooms + bath. The third floor — 2 bedrooms + bath. To all this add a 2 car garage and beautifully treed 100' x 200' lot. All this and Princeton too. $36,900

AGAINST REDUCING MARIJUANA PENALITIES: Russ Looney, service manager at Cregar Motors, takes issue with a consultant to the President's crime commission who recommended lesser penalties for the use and possession of marijuana. "You can't leave it alone," he says.

Question of the Week

Question: A consultant to the President's crime commission says the danger of using marijuana has been overstated, and has recommended lesser penalities for its use and possession. Do you agree that penalties for the use of marijuana should be reduced

Where asked: Around town.

Russell V. Looney, Morrisville, Pa., service manager for Cregar Motors, Route 206: I don't agree. Definitely not. I think they should do everything they can to stomp it out. Once you get started on that, you can't leave it alone; it's not like drinking.

Montague Brown, 388 Terhune Road, employee New Jersey Hospital Association: Yes, I agree — maybe they should be eliminated altogether. There's no proof that marijuana is addictive.

Miss Dorothy Humphrey, 65 Cleveland Lane, secretary, Laidlaw & Company: I don't know what the penalties are for using marijuana but I would be more in favor of judging each case individually. I'd definitely be against no penalty at all because I think taking drugs is dangerous and this would only increase the number of people who would try taking marijuana, especially among the younger people.

Bill Stitt, New York City, film editor, Richard Roberts Film Company, Evelyn Place: My opinion is the most important thing about marijuana isn't the penalties imposed — regardless of the size of the penalty, it's still illegal. It doesn't matter whether a person is fined a million dollars or sent to jail for 20 years, it's still illegal. If they want to arbitrate about it, arbitrate about the whole idea of the legality of marijuana. There is a lot of information available. There was a study — a lengthy one — taken in New York in the '30s by the LaGuardia administration which said that smoking marijuana was less harmful in terms of one's health than smoking tobacco.

Roger Miller, New York City, student: No, I don't think they should be. Marijuana is a good introduction to the more potent drugs such as heroin and its derivitives.

Mrs. Frank Manchester, Crusher Road, Hopewell, housewife: My feeling is having penalties reduced wouldn't decrease its us. We have maximum penalties for other crimes and that doesn't seem to deter people from committing them. Rather than penalties I think more emphasis should be placed on the reason why more and more of our youth seem to feel this need for drugs. Is their something lacking in our lives Personally, I don't think these drugs, which are injurious to our system, should be legalized. They are taking away the effectiveness of our bodies. We need, not lesser penalties but perhaps stiffer ones, particularly for the pushers and the suppliers, the syndicate-type people who are using the uncertainties of our youth. But I still feel the whole thing comes back to; Why is there a market for these drugs?

Jeff Briggs 7 Greenview Avenue, Princeton High School student: I don't think smoking marijuana is really that bad. I agree, I feel the penalties should be reduced. They should just try to stop teenagers from smoking marijuana, not put them in jail.

James Szabo, Old Bridge, Princeton draftsman: No, I don't agree. A person under the influence of a drug cannot be responsible for his activities. If a person commits a crime of any violence under the influence of a drug, it shouldn't be said, "he can't help it — he's not fully aware of what he's doing." I think it should be taken into account that he used the drug to start with — he should have thought of what the consequences might be the first time he started using the drug. I think law enforcement should be stepped up in this area, or have them enforce existing laws as they are now. There should be no let-up so this problem won't get out of hand.

Miss Sandra Brownell, 28 Wiggins Street, Secretary, Clark, Dodge: Marijuana is not addictive. This has been proven. Other drugs like cocaine and heroin are. Therefore, I feel some of our laws dealing with drugs are very antiquated. You can't put marijuana in the same category with all drugs. Yes I think the laws pertaining to marijuana should be made less severe; otherwise you would have some people receiving the same penalty for a lesser crime. That's unfair. Marijuana is just a fad on college campuses. The students are just experimenting with it, they know it is not addictive. They shouldn't be lumped with habitual drug users and receive the same punishment. I don't think there should be no penalty at all because marijuana can lead to the use of other drugs; it can lead into crime in some cases.

R.A. Uritam, 80 Alexander Street, graduate student, physics: I've never used marijuana myself so I don't know what its effects are. One generally gets the impression that marijuana and heroin are all in one group and there must be something terribly wrong with it. But if someone can establish for me that marijuana is really mild like tobacco, there is no reason why there should be any penalties at all. If, however, it leads one to heroin, which is completely addictive, then there should be very severe pealties. I don't know where to turn for the answers. I don't know of any really authoritative study of marijuana — if it is addictive or how dangerous it is.

Tracy Eddinger, 1 Jeffrey Lane, Princeton Junction, Princeton High student: I think it's over exaggerated and the penalties for its use would be made less severe. At times, smoking marijuana can be better than drinking. It also depends on the person smoking it. What's he like? Is he wild? How he acts. There's a right time and place for everything. I think a person should be able to determine if the time is right for him to drink or smoke marijuana.

Our birthday gift to you....
The Princeton Portfolio

Fifty years ago, in 1917, Princeton was a much different town, rustic and small. That was the town that watched the formation of the Princeton Building and Loan. Since that time, the Building and Loan, now the Princeton Savings and Loan, has served it's community and grown with it.

It seems fitting that we should celebrate our fiftieth birthday with a gift to Princetonites about Princeton. The gift we chose reflects our town because for half a century that has been our sole interest.

Stop in soon and allow us to present you with a copy of the "Princeton Portfolio". It contains a series of long-ago Princeton photographs, antique tinted and ready for framing.

While you're here, spend a few minutes browsing over the Historical Society's display of many more old time photos. The display is in our lobby and is open to all. See you soon.

DR. ZHIVAGO, with Omar Sharif in the title role and Julie Christie as Lara, is now playing at the Greenwood Theatre, Trenton, and the Lawrence Drive-in.

News Of The THEATRES

ITS HAPPENING

All Summer Long. A summer-long "happening" in drama will happen in Princeton starting this Thursday under the sponsorship of Youth Associates.

The time is 7-9 p.m.; the place, the First Presbyterian Church .

Drama games, short sketches and workshop experiences will be offered to interested teens. Later in the summer, the group will prepare plays to tour Trenton and New York. Other groups from New York will make exchange visits and a Drama Festival is planned for later in the summer.

Sandy Bowdish and Mark Hamilton will lead .Miss Bowdish has acted in and directed summer stock and semi-professional theatre in Seattle, New York, San Francisco and Honolulu. She is a graduate in drama and psychology at Union Theological Seminary. Mr. Hamilton, a junior at Princeton University, has been with Theatre Intime.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

You Only Live Twice (opens this Wed. at Playhouse; Thurs. at Prince) This is bona fide James Bond, with deadly, cool Sean Connery in the role of the great superspy for the fifth time.

It begins with a prologue in which a U.S. astronaut's space walk is interrupted by another space craft which opens its strange jaws and swallows his space ship. The United States assumes this to be a Russian attempt, and Agent 007 is assigned by helpful British intelligence to locate the missing craft.

The title refers to a bit of action while the screen credits are flashing in which Bond, ensconced with the first in a long line of Japanese beauties, is gunned down and pronounced dead in her bed. His sea burial is merely a cover.

Bond's enemies send two dozen Japanese henchmen after him, there's a redheaded villainess (who gets hers by a piranha fish); four helicopters chase him, and there are karate fights and gun battles — with 007 remaining invulnerable, never losing his cool.

This is the biggest of the James Bond films, costing $9½ million, and there's plenty of action for the dollar.

GARDEN

A Man for All Seasons (held over for third week) The film has the bearing, interest and quality to label it as something out of the ordinary. An historical dramatic conflict is recreated between a statesman-scholar of high principles and a ruling monarch, with Paul Schofield as Sir Thomas More, and Robert Shaw as a young Henry VIII. Previously reviewed. (Green Sheet rating: suitable for adults, mature youth and youth.)

"BLOW, GABRIEL!"

Cole Porter in Park. "Anything Goes" is the musical that allowed Ethel Merman to sing "Blow, Gabriel, Blow, and although Ethel won't be there, "Anything Goes" will be, when the Cole Porter musical is given this weekend at the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing, on the New Jersey side.

The show will be on stage this Friday and Saturday and again Monday and Tuesday, July 3 and 4, and the following weekend, July 7 and 8, if you can call it that, is 8:30 Tickets at the box-office.

Other songs in "Anything Goes" are "You're the Top," "I get a Kick Out of You," and "All Through the Night."

HOW'S YOUR RIB CAGE?

"Break It, Laughing." That's what one critic said about the Theatre of the Living Arts "Room Service," a production which will open Monday at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, playing through July 15.

The 1937 farce was reviewed by the Theatre of the Living Arts in Philadelphia and it was the Philadelphia Bulletin critic Radio in Good Shape?

If you're still carrying around last year's transistor radio, it's time you tuned in on a new model.

Why not a yacht, for a change? Not so wide out as you'd think, because Nassau Hobby has a new little transistor radio shaped like a yacht. Well . . . a cabin cruiser, anyway.

The hobby store also has a radio shaped like a golf cart, for turf-bound souls who never go to sea. Maybe they even have a transistor radio shaped like a transistor radio. We must remember to look next time we stop in.

IT'S NEW To Us

THE SANDS OF TIME

Permanently. Sand-castings which evoke the past or bring a cheerful note to the present are part of the summer scenery at Gallery 100. They can be part of your own summer scenery, too, for $20 to $35.

The sand-caster is Wendy Godfrey. She particularly likes to resurrect figures from the historic or mythic past, and you'll find a prulile of Amenhotep III as pleasant a summer visitor on your patio wall as the Assyrian warrior (see photo).

The plaques are about 15 inches tall and proportionately wide, fashioned to be hung on a wall or embedded in a new plaster construction or arranged with garden greens in whatever way your own imagination sugests.

If you don't care for the Near East, Mrs. Godfrey has an Aztec sun-god in stylized wheel form, or a charming Swedish king and queen riding a horse, probably in medieval style.

From Alaska, Mrs. Godfrey presents the face of a dog god and from Egypt, a tribute elephant. (Fun for a good Republican.)

Turning to her own time, Mrs. Godfrey peers into the garden and finds a whimsical mechanical bird with feathers made of meshing gears and a topknot feather on his head — surely a coiled spring

There's a strutting cock, a beetle (not a Beatle), a pair of stylized birds and the inevitable owl. Mrs. Godfrey's contribution to Princetoniana is a sand-casting of a tiger from the ruins of Chichen-Itza.

Because Mrs. Godfrey will be casting all summer, you may find different plaques from the ones we describe, and perhaps some of these may be gone by the time you read this. Keep looking!

Gallery 100 is happy about another summer visitor, Maxine Roisen whose cooling water-colors of fruit would be refreshing in a summer breakfast-room. Her paintings are in the $50 range.

LET'S PLAY

Bring Your Train. You bring your train and I'll bring mine, we'll both bring tracks and we won't even know the time has gone by.

The train is an N-gauge model from Nassau Hobby, made to 1-64 scale. This means you get a sturdy old-fashioned steam engine which is precisely — we measured — two and one-quarter inches long. It chugs sturdily along a track about half an inch wide, vigorously pulling a train of one-inch coal cars, a load of lumber, some Esso in a tank, a caboose — no commuters.

The delight of the N-gauge, aside from its irresistable size, is the room it gives you to maneuver. We saw Nassau Hobby's track layout, complete with tunnel and tortuous switchbacks, and my goodness, the amount of mileage you get with such a small track!

Nassau Hobby tells us the N-gauge seems to run more smoothly than other electric models by very reason of its small size. Try it on the New York-Washington run.

For summer, Nassau Hobby takes the boats out of dry-dock and sails off in a different model every day. You can get a really good boat for $3.50, and bigger ones all the way to $18. There's even a $50 model, if you're serious about the sport. This $50 baby has a reel-out string for steering.

If you want to build your own, Nassau Hobby has boat kits from $4.50 and a wonderful little wind-up swimming pool boat for only 98 cents. Lots of styles in boats, by the way: tugs, freighters, aircraft carrier, and so on.

Prefer air to water? Take off in a plane, with either radio or line control, priced from $1.98 to $44.95. (That one is all fiberglas and comes in a kit.)

Our favorite representative of the Department of Transportation is a Nassau-orange Mustang, radio controlled and ready to run right out of the box. It's 14 inches long, which ought to make it easy to park on Nassau Street, it has two forward gears and it costs $85.

Down a bit on the price scale, we find a full stock of Frisbees, gliders, and those water rockets that zoom up about 200 feet. Summer must be here. . . . . .

NEED A LITTLE DRESS

Well. . . Just One. You'll

STRAIGHT FROM THE SAND BOX: Your beach terrace will be handsomer if you decorate it with one of Wendy Godfrey's sand-castings — to match the beach, of course. The one on the left is a copy from pre-Columbian art, the one on the right is Assyrian. The one on the far right is Mrs. Godfrey.

"Generation," currently at the Playhouse with Durward Kirby, will continue through this Saturday.

IT'S MATHIS

At Music Circus, Johnny Mathis, with "Our Young Generation" will star at the Lambertville Music Circus through this Sunday, July 2. Performances are at 8:30 p.m. weeknights, 6 and 9:45 p.m. on Saturday and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

"Our Young Generation" is a new group of Californias, ten in all, providing a complement for the Mathis sound. Mathis has recorded 18 "Gold" albums, including "Johnny's Greatest Hits," "Merry Christmas," "Warm," "Faithfully" and so on.

recall that the first reaction of a Glassboro lady to the impending visit of Premier Kosygin was "But I haven't anything to wear!" And of course, she didn't. She had already bought her summer clothes, naturally, but she didn't have that one special dress.

Aware of these feminine crises, The French Shop has a group of little dresses for that unexpected midsummer occasion. If your social life has taken a sudden spurt, here's an ice green crepe with a band of irridescent seashells around a low U-neckline and the edge of three quarter sleeves.

Apple green chiffon has a wide, soft cowl neckline and cool, floating panels which create a coat effect. A similar chiffon is a forthright, but not shocking, pink, with a two-inch headed band around the neck.

Deep, bright turquoise chiffon has knife edge accordion pleats breaking away from a high, sequined yoke. Pinks melt in together in a full, sleeveless chiffon whose graceful collar folds over the low standup neckline of a solid pink coat.

Need a little silk? French Shop says, "Why not a giraffe" Giraffes in shocking pink, bright green print and juicy orange overlap one another in a bold, bold print cooled by cutaway halter sleeves and bare neckline.

Silk combines with wool in an ice green sleeveless dress with one of those sequin collars, again turning over the neckline of a coat. This time, however, it's a suit jacket instead of full-length coat.

A little jersey might be French's model with lightning stripes in aqua, raspberry and pink with a grosgrain band down the front to hold the print in check.

Jersey makes a tent, too. This one has little sleeves, a round neck and an optional belt. The print is a careless blob of oranges-reds.

Terhune "An Expressway."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

With reference to the story in "Topics of the Town" in Town Topics (June 22) I did not accuse the Township of deception although I did object to a less than candid answer to a question posed by another resident.

What I sought to do was to convey to the Township Committee and Planning Board the chagrin and disappointment felt by those of us who had naively purchased houses on Terhune Road only to find that it had been on the Township Map for years as an expressway. Most, I am sure, felt deceived.

Although any deception involved in that was not by the Township, I thik that it is fair to say that this situation is the inevitable result of a policy which seek to build major traffic arteries by the same method as is used to finance residential streets, thus providing these obviously needed facilities at low cost to the majority at the expense of the comfort and property values (and incidentally children's safety) of a minority.

One fact to get the history straight — those who objected during the hearings in 1961, referred to in the story, were told that this route had been "on the map" as a traffic artery since before 1954, and that they should have been guided in their purchases accordingly. If Terhune really is a residential street, why is the speed limit 35 mph?

FRANK C. SHOEMAKER
361 Walnut Lane

(Editor's note: State law provides for only two speed limits: 25 and 50 m.p.h. The 25 m.p.h. is designed for business and school districts and can be legally used in residential areas only if buildings occupy at least half of the street frontage. The section of Terhune between Jefferson and Walnut meets this requirement. The rest of Terhune, with its large lots, does not, and so the 50

m.p.h. limit, automatically applied.

Township officials, concerned about the 50 m.p.h. limit, made surveys and as a result of these surveys, the state agreed to reduce the 50 m.p.h. to 35 m.p.h. The Township had the choice of accepting the 35 m.p.h. compromise, or acquiescing in a 50 m.p.h. top.)

Racket Drive Successful.

To The Editor of Town Topics:

Sometime ago we issued an appeal for people to donate old tennis rackets to the community tennis program. Everyone has been so cooperative that the number of rackets we have received has been overwhelming.

We now feel we are in the position to provide tennis rackets, as well as lessons, to any youngster in town who does not own a racket and who cannot afford to purchase one. Obviously many of these rackets were in need of repair or complete restringing and the generous contribution of Bayard Jordan to put them in playing shape has been most helpful.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who have helped us bring tennis to many more youngsters in the Princeton community.

Public Being "Conned."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The present situation in Lawrence Township concerning the proposed Squibb pharmaceutical division is a perfect example of the workings of small town politics. Having been a Princeton area resident for most of my life, I have always been proud of the rural beauty of the nearby countryside, and am now appalled at the possibility of several hundred acres of lovely, rolling farmland being ruined as a result of the willingness of certain township committeemen to submit to pressure from this company.

These men are ignoring the consequences of changing the zoning regulations, and following their own, selfish interests. By calling the lab a "campus," Squibb expects to soften the hearts and heads of landowners in the area; the plan is obviously successful.

What is most interesting and discouraging is that the "liberals," who traditionally pine for the amelioration of the human condition, support the erection of the Squibb lab, thinking unemployment will be reduced, taxes lowered, and Utopia brought that much closer to the man in the street. These liberals are being taken for a ride by cheap politicians, whose intentions are not quite so honorable.

Unemployment, of course, will not be reduced, because Squibb will bring in its own employees from elsewhere. Anyone who believes that taxes will be miraculously lowered is sorely mistaken and unbelievably politically naive; ETS is correct in doubting the possibility of an improved tax rate.

Taking all of this into account, plus increased traffic (Squibb's estimate on the number of employees is an insult to the public intelligence; this number will increase by many times the proposed figures) and possible noise and fumes (I don't believe Squibb on this count, either), it seems to me that in either the short or long run, the loss of that farmland is not worth the gain of a Squibb pharmaceutical division.

Yet it will be approved and built. And so will other Squibb like divisions, until the area completely loses its rural character, as the public is being conned into believing that it is for their own good. How long will the public put up with it?

WHAT MAKES A STORE REPUTABLE?

HARRIS

Every successful business is based upon public confidence and good will. These things cannot be bought. They must be "earned."

The public knows that certain stores are recognized as "reputable" and others are not.

And what is the secret ingredient of this important thing which every store wants — a good reputation? It is many things. It is reflected in everything the owner and his employees do in their business dealings and even in their civic and social activities.

It is the way the phone is answered. It is created by the type of advertising a firm does; by the service given to customers; by the manner complaints are handled; by the courteous and helpful attention given to customers by everyone from the sales people to the delivery men; by those little things "above and beyond the call of duty" which every customer remembers — and — every good business man tries to do.

And, of course, it is the big things — good merchandise, fair prices, and integrity. You just can't beat this combination.

HOSPITAL GETS VARIANCE And Extension of Permit. Princeton Hospital last week was granted both requests it made of the Borough Zoning Board: a six-months extension of a special permit it has obtained from the same board in August, 1966, to construct a three-story addition to Merwick, and a side-yard variance between the proposed addition and the Stanworth project on the north.

The reason the hospital failed to take out a building permit within the required six months was the tight money market, said hospital administrator John Kauffman. The hospital was unable to obtain the necessary financing, he said. "Now we are ready to move forward."

A different method of construction which would move the north side of the Merwick addition nine feet closer to the lot line than the hospital showed on its plans last month necessitated the request for a new side-yard variance. The total distance of the variance granted last week measured 33 feet; the nearest residential building to the building is located in Stanworth, 58 feet away.

The variance was granted with the stipulation that it be subject to the original resolution of July, 1965. That resolution states that before the hospital makes any changes in the addition, such as adding another floor, it must first come before the board for approval.

In a letter to the board, Simon Fried, 34 Howe Circle, who is converting the old Quarry Street School into a nursing home, asked for a six-month extension of his building permit. He wrote that complications arising from the demolition of the old Bamman warehouse on the rear of the property, remodeling the school and meeting state-imposed standards had caused the delay.

His request was granted.

In other cases, Chandler Wentworth, 42 Linden Lane, was granted a side-yard variance to extend his garage four feet, and Robert Rivers was granted a front yard setback variance in order to extend an existing front porch eight feet. Mr. Rivers lives at 21 Green Street.

Edwin R. Metcalf, 52 Elm Road, was allowed to erect a 12-foot high brick fence between his property and a bordering rear lot. The Borough's maximum height for fences is six feet.

Mr. Metcalf testified that the house under construction to the rear of his property is only 10 feet from his boundary line and its ground floor is four feet higher than his own. "When you add a garage measuring seven feet, that's 11 feet," he said. "I'm asking for 12."

Weathervane Held Over. The appearance of the Weathervane, 20 Nassau, concerning more off-street parking places it must provide along with its proposed expansion, ended before it began. The board's attorney, Lowell F. Curran Jr., ruled that neither Ridgely Cook, stockholder in the firm which is managing agent of 20 Nassau, nor Reed Laughlin, the owner of The Weathervane, was qualified to speak.

"No one," said Mr. Curan, "other than an attorey-at-law may represent a corporation at a public body—not even if that person is the sole owner of the corporation." Earlier, Mr. Laughlin had testified that the Weathervane was a trademark of the parent company, The Ski, Inc. of which he was the sole stockholder and owner.

Obviously frustrated at the turn of events, especially when the board informed him it would not be meeting again until August, Mr. Cook turned to Mr. Laugblin and said: "What is this going to do to you?"

"It means," replied Mr. Laughlin, who had told the board he was able to provide the necessary parking within the required 400 feet, that "I will lose about $125,000 in business."

After a brief huddle to discuss the impasse, the board returned to say it would hear the case a week later. It also announced it would reveal at the same time its decision on two applications it had heard earlier in the evening: the request of the Westminster Choir College to build a dormitory on its campus and the request of Woolworth's to install a lunch counter and booths as part of a store-wide modernization which would cost $165,000.

The choir college needs a special permit and a cluster of variances; Woolworth's, the waiver of 10 off-street parking spaces it must provide under zoning regulations.

ZIP GUIDES OFFERED In Benefit Sale. Zip code directories will be sold beginning next Wednesday, July 5, by the Princeton Area Douglass Alumni Club in front of the Post Office at Palmer Square and the branch office at the Shopping Center from 11:30 to 1.

The sale will benefit the club's Emily K. Post scholarship awarded annually to a freshman entering Douglass. The books cost $1.

Postmaster John L. Dilworth recommends the use of zip codes, especially for Princeton, since there are 28 Princetons in the United States.

Those wishing to buy a directory who cannot go to the Post Offices should call Mrs. Arthur Allen, 799-1569; Mrs. Samuel Goldfarb, 924-2008; Mrs. Dirk Muyskens, 799-0684; and Mrs. Frederick Petke, 921-2157.

AFTER 25 YEARS: HONORED with 25-Year Service Awards for distinguished service were three members of Princeton University's Department of Planning, Plant and Properties who joined the University in 1942. They are Eugene W. Rigg, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, operating and maintenance engineer of the University Power Plant; Victor Carazzai, 96 Leigh Avenue, caretaker of the University Tennis Courts, and Harry R. Hansen, Jamesburg, garageman for trucks. Mr. Rigg and Mr. Hansen are life-long Princeton area residents. Mr. Carazzai, who will continue to work part-time, is a native of Germany who came to the U.S. in 1929.

6th GRADERS TAKE PART In Swimming Program. Sixth graders of the Princeton Regional School System took part this spring in a swimming program made possible by completion of the Community Park pool complex.

The dual-purpose program was under the direction of Norman Van Arsdalen, director of physical education. He was assisted by Mrs. Katherine Lasley, chairman, Princeton Red Cross Water Safety Committee; R. Donald Barr, Princeton Recreation Director; Edward Beacham, Community Swimming Pool Director; Mrs. Charlotte Christensen of the YWCA and Mrs. Joan Deichman.

One purpose of the program was to have it serve as a pilot program for a swimming and water safety instruction course that will be integrated into the school's physical education program. A second was to afford the schools an opportunity for students in grades six through eigbt to acquaint themselves with the rules and regulations of the pools.

The instructional swimming phase of the program was centered on sixth graders. Each child was tested and his swimming proficiency recorded on a card. These cards may be used during the summer for those who want to continue their swimming instruction during the summer in the free swim period in the morning.

In all, 27 water instructors volunteered their services to supplement the physical education staff.

Besides the physical education teachers, volunteers were: Elizabeth Adams, Harriet Ahouse, Virginia Ashenfelter, Annabell Axtmann, Tink Bolster, Ann Bredon, Emilie Buck, Charlotte Christensen, Barbara Coffman, Joan Deichmann,

PUSHY SALES CALLS and how to cope with them

Nothing's more annoying than a pushy sales call. Especially when it uses a bogus contest, a phony offer, or when it comes at an awkward time.

Fortunately, such calls are easy to deal with. If you're not interested, SAY SO, SAY GOOD-BYE, AND HANG UP. Usually, that settles that! After all, you are in control of your telephone.

IF THE CALLER IS RUDE OR PERSISTENT, LET US KNOW. Call your Telephone Business Office. But first, be sure to find out the name and location of the firm calling. Then we'll do what we can.

TIP-OFFS ON QUESTIONABLE SALES CALLS

THE CALLER MAY: • Give no identification. • Claim to be conducting a survey . . . which turns into a sales pitch. • Rattle off prices, offers, and questions in machine-gun style, so that you are confused. • Make "special" offers simply too good to be true. • Tell you that you have won a "free" gift.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Old Pictures on Display. A display of photographs of old time Princeton scenes is now on view in the lobby of the Princeton Savings and Loan Association, 19 Chambers Street, as part of its 50th anniversary celebration.

Titled "Pictures from Princeton's Past," the display contains scenes selected from the files of the Princeton Historical Society and the Princeton Herald. Six of the photographs are contained in a portfolio, which the association is offering free to all interested. The pictures are suitable for framing.

"Our history has been so closely tied to that of the community, that we decided to show our appreciation by offering a gift dedicated to Princeton's long and colorful history," said Mrs. Charlotte Dougherty, president of Princeton Savings.

"Since it is the nature of our business to work primarily with the savings of individuals, and since our loan portfolio is devoted to home mortgages, growth for the community has meant growth for us," Mrs. Dougherty said. "The photos on display tell that story better than statistics can."

Since the association opened for business as the Princeton Building & Loan on July 1, 1917, assets have grown to more than $16 million. The firm has aided thousands of Princeton residents to purchase homes with the aid of a Princeton Savings mortgage.

NEW EXECUTIVES NAMED

For Interfunding Corporation. Marvin S. Fox has been named president and George Weiss has been chosen vice-president of Interfunding Service Corporation, a subsidiary of Princeton Planning Corporation of America, whose principal office is at 194 Nassau Street.

Mr. Fox has been an agent and supervisor for United Life and Accident Insurance Company for the past three years. He has been in the insurance business for seven and a half years.

Mr. Weiss has written more than $1 million every year since 1961, when he entered the insurance business. He is a past president of the Central Jersey Life Underwriters Association.

CERTIFIED DEALER: John W. Donaldson Jr. has completed a three-week course in service station management at American Oil Company's Dealer Development Center in Elmsford, N. Y. Mr. Donaldson, proprietor of the Griggs Corner American station, received the title of certified American Oil Dealer. Associated with the Nassau Oil Co. for 17 years, Mr. Donaldson lives at 41 Leavitt Lane.

PUBLISHERS BRANCH OUT

To Australia. Van Nostrand has opened a new branch in Melbourne, Australia. Directors include Edward M. Crane Jr., president of the Princeton company, and Oliver A. Vietor, vice president of the international division.

Mark A. Tucker, Van Nostrand's Australian representative for the past two years, has been named managing director. Warehousing operations to Australian and New Zealand accounts will begin on July 1.

NEW OFFICE OPENED

By Better Business Bureau. The Better Business Bureau has opened a central New Jersey office in Trenton.

The bureau has been busy checking into reports that unethical heater and chimney repair salesmen are canvassing the area. One furnace repair job was found to be faulty and over priced. In another, a high price was charged to clean a chimney.

According to the bureau, the pretense offered by the canvasser was that there had been fires in the neighborhood and most of them were caused by dirty chimneys. A contract clause allows the customer to break the contract, but it costs 50% of the value of the total contract to do so.

The bureau's South Jersey office recently exposed several heating repair outfits, which were operating unethically, and it believes that these same heater repairmen or someone affiliated with them are operating in the central Jersey area.

A second scheme concerns advertising solicitation for a directory that does not exist. The solicitation comes in the form of an IBM invoice with the cost and a picture of the yellow pages on its face. Fourteen California-based companies are showering East coast merchants in the hope that a firm will spend $67.50 to advertise.

To Air Force ROTC. Princeton University's Air Force ROTC program has received a plaque of appreciation for its outstanding support of the Air Force recruiting program.

Captain William A. Moore, commanding officer of Detachment 215, U. S. Air Force Recruiting Newark, made the presentation on Tuesday to Major Stanley M. Adelson, 74 Western Way, chairman of the Department of Air Science at the University. Major Adelson is leaving Princeton after a five year tour of duty for Wright-Patterson Air Force base, Dayton, O.

Thomas W. Tucker, son of Prof. and Mrs. Albert W. Tucker, 60 Scott Lane, graduated magna cum laude from Harvard College this month. He plans to study for a Ph.D. in mathematics at Dartmouth under a National Defense Education Act Fellowship. Mr. Tucker was first scholar and valedictorian of Lawrenceville School in 1963.

WE DO!

PRINCETON YOUTH — each year a new crop moves into the driver's seat. Few are trained by professional instructors. Most learn from their parents or peers.

These young people, high-gaited, imaginative, with opportunities open to them that never existed for previous generations, like to remind us that "This is a changing world."

One change, we'll concede, is the world of the automobile — more cars, more young drivers, increasing travel, higher speeds, complex freeways, more small cars and motorcycles.

Yet, most Princeton youth accept haphazard driver training. Parents ignore the insurance reduction available from many companies if their child is trained by a professional. Princeton High School offers no "on the road training" as part of its driver education course in spite of repeated offers of donated cars from Princeton automobile dealers. And last year, when the 30-hour driver education theory course at PHS was made an elective, only 132 out of approximately 130 juniors signed up.

The worst accident rate lies in the age 18 to 25 group. Few of our youth are receiving on-the-road training in "defensive driving," learning to avoid accidents by anticipation and early recognition of danger. It takes road experience and good judgment to make an entrance onto a super highway, to acquire proper seeing habits, to learn how to meet the common emergencies.

The teenagers above are not reckless drivers. Yet they personify the Princeton youth we'd like to see protected with on-the-road training in defensive driving. Take care.
We care.

Tips on how home owners can prevent burglaries . . .

"Most of these B&E (breaking and entering) men haven't much time," Ptl. Frank Cox of Princeton Township says. "They're going to be picked up by a driver in 10 minutes . . . they have to work fast."

Team your neighbors with the police by telling both when you'll be away. Ask your neighbors to call the police if they see anything suspicious.

Double locks on doors, heavy screens on windows will slow the B&E man down. Outdoor lighting is a deterent.

An unlit house, or one with lights left on all day, is an invitation to the burglar. Make sure that two lights are turned on at dusk and off at your normal retiring time by means of an automatic timing device.

A note left in a milk bottle may stop delivery, but it'll also tell the burglar that the "coast is clear." Publicity in the newspapers about your vacation, according to Ptl. Cox, is a tip-off. "Mr. and Mrs. Brown have just made a record catch off Bermuda — unfortunately somebody may follow up with a record catch at their house."

Drawn shades protect the burglar. So does the unlocked garage connected to the house. "Often he can enter the kitchen through the garage. All he has to do is pull down the garage door and he can work all night."

FIRE

HOUSES BUILT TO BURN

. . . that's what too many of us are living in. At fault are some building materials that look great but burn fast, such as fibreboards, acoustical ceiling material and highly combustible plastic tiles.

In any future building or remodeling, insist on fireproof materials. Your best guide is still an Underwriters' Laboratory label. In the meantime. . . .

Here's Some Fire Magic That Works:

Use fire retarding paint when you redecorate. It comes in all colors.

You can flameproof your drapes and curtains yourself. Soak fabrics in a solution made from nine ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid in one gallon of water. Hang until dry. Repeat after every cleaning.

Install fire alarms. They're surprisingly inexpensive. The fire department will help you make the right choice.

Keep Fires at Bay

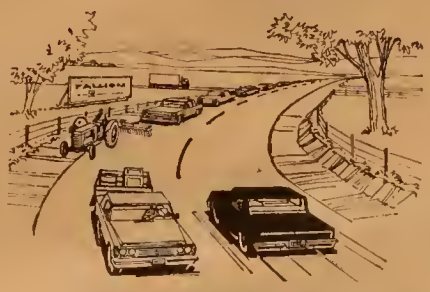
Use large, deep ashtrays that grip the cigarette. Never smoke while dozing or in bed.

Use safety cans to store flammable liquids. Store them outside the house.

Be sure all your electrical fuses are the right size, usually 15 amperes. Never use pennies or jumpers to replace blown fuses.

Don't let trash accumulate around the house.

HIGHWAYS



TEST YOUR SEE POWER!

It's a clear, sunny day. You're in the black car doing about 60 mph on the way to Princeton. Several cars in the opposite lane are backed up behind a farm tractor pulling a wide hay rake. Can you spot the hazard and avoid the accident that's about to happen?

You're a really good driver if you suspect that someone in that line may lose patience and try to squeeze by the hay rake, moving partly into your lane as he does it. Look for an escape route along the shoulder of the road just in case. Move as far right as you can and slow down so you can make a quick turn or stop.

JULY 4 — LIGHTS ON!

Drive with your lights on low beam in the daytime over July Fourth weekend. Attorney General Arthur J. Sills appeals to all drivers of passenger cars to join lighted trucks and buses to reduce trafic deaths.

Does "lights on" help or is it just a gimmick? Greyhound Bus Lines, among others, report a decrease in accidents with their "lights on at all times" program.

Join in.

SALES EVEN, PROFITS UP

Tigers Have Good Year. Princeton athletic teams closed their books for the 1966-67 year last week and toted up the proceeds. Many an industrial corporation might envy the gist of their annual report: on sales that held even, the profit margin was markedly higher.

During the "fiscal" year that ran from September through late June, representatives of the Orange and Black achieved a winning percentage of .631. This was an improvement of a mere one-thousandth of a point over the previous report, which was pegged at .630.

However, a year ago, the Tigers failed to win a single league championship outright and shared only the fencing title with two oppents. This year, they were Ivy champions in basketball, wrestling and lacrosse, and co-champions in football with Dartmouth and Harvard. In winning virtually the same number of contests as they had a year earlier, they obviously bagged a far larger share of the big ones.

In a sense, the football team's ability to rebound from a staggering 31-13 defeat at Dartmouth's hands in its first Ivy game to tie the Indians and Harvard for the 1966 title was as heart-warming to Princeton fans as was the ability of the 1964 team to go 9-for-9. The 18-14 upset of unbeaten Harvard, achieved in the wake of a series of dislocating injuries, was one of the most memorable in the history of the sport in Palmer Stadium.

Three Others Rebound. Dislodged from the top rung of the ladder in basketball after three straight years of spectacular Bradleyhall, the Tigers quintet rolled to a scintillating 25-3 record and a 13-1 mark that returned it to first place in Ivy action. Simultaneously on the winter scene, the wrestlers completed a far longer cycle — they had won the Ivy title in 1956, had long been below the .500 mark but in 1967 won all league matches to dethrone defending champion Cornell.

The Ithacans were also the first-place incumbents in lacrosse when Princeton went to Ithaca in May and defeated them, 7-5, to end a Red victory string of 24 straight. It was the 11th year in the last 12 that Ferris Thomsen's stick men had won or shared first place.

Topflight marks were recorded in swimming (12-1) and tennis (9-1) but in each of these sports the Tigers finished second to Yale in league standings. Cross country also lost but once (8-1), while the only teams falling short of the .500 mark were soccer (0-7-3), hockey (7-14), track (1-4) and squash (4-6).

Princeton actually had greater success with its seven Ivy rivals than it did on an overall basis, moving at a .649 clip in competition with the other members of the Ancient Eight, compared to its mark of .631 against all comers. The Tigers bested Harvard for the first time in many seasons, achieving an 11-8 mark in 19 engagements with the Crimson, but were topped by Yale, also for the first time in a number of years. The Elis swept all four hockey games to win 12 while losing 8.

Other rivalries showed these figures in Princeton's favor:

Brown, 10-2; Columbia, 13-2; Cornell, 8-7-1; Dartmouth(8-2-1; Pennsylvania, 14-5.

MEN'S SINGLES STARTS

In YMCA Tournament. The annual Princeton YMCA Summer Community Tennis Championships began last week and will continue with the start Monday of the men's and women's singles tournaments to be held at the University Courts. Final matches are scheduled for next Friday.

Subsequent tournaments in order will be women's doubles, boys' and girls' (16 years), junior men and junior women (18 and under), men's doubles and mixed doubles. All entries must register at the YMCA office, the University Pagoda or Community Park. Contestants under 18 play free; others must pay a $1 entry fee. All players, however, must supply one can of new balls.

The tournaments again are being supervised by John Conroy, Princeton University tennis coach. John Zorzi is the director. Trophies will be awarded champions and runners-up in each tournament.

CARBON WINS TENTH

In Business Softball. Columbian Carbon rolled to its tenth consecutive triumph in the western division of the Business Softball League last week. In the eastern division, RCA Astro moved into a first place tie with idle American Cyanamid.

Jim Chiorello, Jack Sheldon and Jack Weaver had three hits apiece to power Carbon to a 14-1 victory over the Telephone Workers. Al Rizzer blasted a four bagger for the winners, and Ed Ward was the winning pitcher.

In the battle for second place, RCA A squeaked by Shell, 5-4, with Don Pultorak driving in the key runs in the sixth inning. Ed Lopatin and Wally Reichert each had a homer for RCA, and John Meyer excelled in the field.

McGraw-Hill moved up another notch in the eastern division taking over third place from RCA B on a three-hitter by Tom Wood. George Kurowski collected three doubles for McGraw-Hill. Veteran hurler Carl Valenti took the loss for Hopewell TV.

EMR won its third game of the season, edging winless Opinion Research, 14-13. Lee Buchanan was the winning pitcher.

In other action, RCA B, which had won two tough games the week before, lost, 10-6, to NCA. RCA Astro defeated ETS, 7-4, ERC sent FMC to its eighth loss, 10-9; and WTS Pharmacraft forfeited its game to Accelerator.

ELKS, NO. 3 LEAD

In P.B.A. Baseball League. After the first week of play in the P.B.A. 9-12 Youth Baseball League, Elks and Engine No. 3, the defending league champions, are tied for the lead with 2-0 records. Engine No. 1 is a half-game behind.

No. 3 won both its games as John Mooney and Rick Giamo fashioned a pair of two-hitters. Mooney struck out 13 in besting Italian-American Sportsmen, 6-1. Jamie Petrone went two-for-three for the victors including a triple, while Giamo contributed a triple and a double. Jeff Petrone and John Gianacaci were the only two batters to solve Mooney.

Giamo fanned nine, giving up hits to Bobby Higgins and Tony Bailey, as No. 3 blanked American Legion Post 76, 8-0. Mooney, Giamo and Jamie Petrone led No. 3 at the plate.

The Elks also got solid pitching in their two wins. Glenn Goethals tossed a three-hitter at Hook & Ladder to win easily, 11-4. Buddy Kleiber connected for a two-run homer and Breezy Boccanfuso had two hits in three at bats. En route, Goethals whiffed 12.

To upend Roma Eterna, the Elks sad to go two extra innings. An error and singles by Duncan Martin, Corey Reef and Goethals accounted for three runs in the eighth to give the Elks the game, 4-1. Boccanfuso and Chris Bauman combined on the mound for the Elks, and their tandem effort was an impressive one; 15 strike-outs, three hits.

Larry Miller took the loss for Roma Eterna. He, Joe McGuinn and Mark Richards accounted for the losers' three hits.

Engine No. 1 also benefited from a strong mound performance. Bobby King pitched a five hitter and rapped out two hits in three appearances to pace his team to a 4-1 decision over Roma Eterna. Billy Long and Simon Boccanfuso were standouts on defense and Bobby Speagle stole two bases and had a perfect day at the plate.

King's counterpart on the mound, Eterna's Joe McGuinn, was the entire offense for the losers. He struck out 10 No. 1 batters, connected for two of his team's five hits, including a double, and scored its only run. No. 1's scheduled contest with Eagles was rained out.

The Eagles were buried in their only game by the Sportsmen, 14-1. George Barna pitched and batted the victors to their win, collecting a triple and a home run.

In the closest game of the young season, Hook & Ladder edged Post 76, 4-3. Rennie Scott struck out 13 and aided his own cause by hitting a key double in a last-inning, three-run rally. Hook & Ladder's Dane Black went three for four.

John Soderman was tagged with the loss.

EDINBURG MOTEL GAINS

In West Windsor League. Edinburg Hotel won a pair of games last week, including a come-from-behind victory over the league leaders, to raise its record to 3-3 in the second half of play in the West Windsor Little League.

Edinburg's big win was a 10-8 upset of first-place First National Bank. To sweeten it even more, Edinburg overcame a 6-0 deficit.

Mike Carlucci was the chief engineer of Edinburg's triumph. He received credit for the win in a relief appearance, choked off a bank threat with a fine defensive catch of a foul pop, and connected for the hit that sent home the winning tally. Carlucci was supported at the plate by Steve Kapp and Bill Wilson.

The Bank had spurted to a 6-0 lead behind the hitting of Kevin Tylus, Phil Love and Tim Moran. The Hotel's eight-run inning erased that, however.

Scoring 12 runs in one inning, Edinburg flattened the Lions, 24-0, for its second win. Only a last-inning single by Bernie Shanfield prevented Bill Wilson from hurling a no-hitter.

The Bank, meanwhile, salvaged a split in the week's activity when it defeated Thorne's, the first-half champions, 11-2. Kevin Tylus set the Pharmacy down on three hits and struck out 14.

Tim Moran accounted for four RBIs, Scott Dalton stroked a pair of hits and Tylus tripled to lead the Bank's attack. Jeff Drummond, Charlie Lanning and John Cross hit safely for the losers.

Next it was Ellsworth A.C.'s turn to pick on skidding Thorne's. This time, John Fuschini limited Thorne's to three hits for a 3-1 victory. Mike Born, Wayne Wilson and Fuschini excelled at the plate for Ellsworth.

In a free-swinging contest, Craft Cleaners came from behind to slip past Ellsworth, 10-9. Ron Tindall sparked Craft at the plate, while Mark Ellsworth, Mike Born and Joe Czeslowski paced the losers.

The standings:

	W	L	Pct.
First Nat. Bank	4	2	.667
Craft Cleaners	3	2	.600
Edinburg Hotel	3	3	.500
Ellsworth A.C.	3	3	.500
Thorne's Pharm.	3	3	.500
Lions Club	1	4	.200

LIONS NOW IN FIRST

In Babe Ruth League. A 3-1 victory over MacKenzie Realty enabled the Lions Club to move into first place in the West Windsor Babe Ruth League last week. Two of the four games were rained out.

Key singles by John Drummond and Fred Taft gave the Lions all their runs in the fourth inning. Lions' pitcher Jeff Haring yielded only two hits, both of them singles by Rick Boykin, while striking out nine. The game was called in the fifth inning because of rain.

Earlier in the week, MacKenzie outlasted Will's Shell to score a 9-8 victory. Kevin Curtis had the only extra-base hit for MacKenzie, a double. John Hodges and Joe Cavanaugh hit two-baggers for Wills. Dennis McClenahan was the winning pitcher, in relief of David Fry.

West Windsor's all-star team will play its first game in the regional playoffs of the state Babe Ruth tournament against Hamilton at 4 Saturday on the Mount Holly High School field. An automobile caravan for players and fans will leave from the Dutch Neck School at 2 on Saturday.

DEDE PICKERING WINS

Philadelphia Teonis Title. Dede Pickering, an eighth grader at Princeton Day School, won the 14-and-under girls singles title in the Philadelphia district junior tennis championships.

Unseeded in the tournament, Dede upset all the seeded players, including top-seeded Melinda Storch of State College, Pa. in the finals, 6-2, 6-4.

Steve Kraft, Ridgeview Road, won the 16-and-under boys singles title at Philadelphia, downing Ricky Swift in the finals, 6-1, 6-3.

This week, 13 Princeton girls will enter the Pennsylvania State clay court championships at the Philmont Country Club in Huntington Valley, Pa., and five boys will enter a tourney at the Waynesboro Country Club in Paoli.

Competing at Philmont are: Mary Lapidus, Leslie Aldrege, Erica Dumpel, Lindsay Hicks, Dede Pickering, Stephie Shoemaker, Beth Rimalover, Darin Hicks, Vickie Austin, Randy Gulick, K. C. Constable, Terry Blake and Hope Miller. Those going to Paoli are: Billy Janney, Michael Gloucevitch, Steven Tobolsky, George Barna and John Moran.

Twenty-four students in John Conroy's advanced classes will compete in an exchange match against junior players of the Spring Lake Bath and Tennis Club this Thursday at Spring Lake.

WALKEY, FREMON WIN

In A.A.U. Swim Meet. Marilyn Walkey and Jane Fremon of Princeton each won a first place Friday in a swim meet sponsored by the Metropolitan A.A.U. in the New York Athletic Club Pool, Pelham Manor.

Miss Walkey won the 100-meter women's open butterfly in 1:10.4; Miss Fremon won the 100-meter freestyle in 1:70.0. Both girls are working this summer with Bob Clotworthy in his program for competitive swimmers at the Community Park Pool.

In another meet at Wayne, sponsored by the New Jersey A.A.U., Miss Fremon won a second gold medal in the 100 meter butterfly for girls 13-14 in a time of 1:17.8. She also placed fourth in the women's 100 freestyle.

Swimming for the first time for the newly-formed Princeton Aquatic Association, a medley relay team of Jan Kubik, backstroke; Chuck Petzold, breaststroke; Ross Wales, butterfly; and Dave Mayerberg, freestyle, won gold medals in the 200-meter race for men. Their time was 1:57.0.

Petznld won a second gold medal when he finished first in the men's open 100-meter breaststroke. His time was 1:18.0.

The GREATEST . . . BEST . . . FASTEST . . . How many times have you seen and heard these words in ads selling service . . . we admit, we've used them ourselves. But we have found that you can't sell a service with superlatives! We simply say that we think our TV Repair Service is merely better than adequate . . . it's only GOOD.

We have trained, competent technicians with years of experience in their profession to back that statement.

And most of all, we have many satisfied customers . . . which is, after all, our ultimate goal!

Do us a service . . . call 921-8500 today so that we may serve you!
